Projects

Local-Library - Github

A full-stack app that manages a catalog for a local library.

Technologies: Express, Nodejs, MongoDB, Mongoose and Pug

- Used Express JS to create a server-side app to serve a RESTful API of a Library Catalog.
- Utilized Mongoose to store and retrieve resources in a Mongo DB.
- Used Pug to create and maintain Views for the application and follow the MVC pattern.

Movie-Zone - Github

A dynamic movie app that receives data from an external RapidApi and an internal API

Technologies: Ruby on Rails, Props-Types, Styled-Components, React-Spring and Reactjs

- Implemented a modular design using Styled-components.
- Established component type-checking with Props-Types to ensure application stability and maintainability.
- Leveraged React-spring as a React animations library to add animations to the application.

ShoutRandomly - Github | Demo

A full-stack social media app; follow other users, create posts and edit profiles.

Technologies: Ruby on Rails, SQLite, Material UI, and Reactjs

- Used Active Storage in the Ruby on Rails server-side application to integrate with data storage to manage and upload user images.
- Used Material UI, a React implementation of Google's Material Design, to create an easily understandable, simple, and clean user experience.
- Built the backend of the application using Ruby on Rails and SQLite to create and maintain user profiles data.
